VOL. XXV. NO. 32 BRISTOL, BUCKS COUNTY, PA., THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1898. PRICE THREE CENTS

WANAMAKER AT LANCASTER.

John Wanamaker fired his first campaign gun last night at Lancaster. He touched off an accumulated charge which was thunderous in its report. The smoke was thick and the first suggestion was that the damage was frightful. When the atmosphere cleared it was found that not a man was injured, and the target was untouched.

Mr. Wanamaker said to the Lancaster people that he came there to fire the first real gun of war in the opening of the battle of an insulted and outraged commonwealth against the invasion of its rights. That for fifteen years the control of the state departments had been in treacherous hands and it was time to cry a halt. That he knew he would be victorious in his effort to filter the politics of the state, and he would attend to that duty, if elected, 313 days in the year.

Mr. Wanamaker's statements delivered at different places and different times do not harmonize. In Philadelphia he declared that he intended to fight to the finish, into the winter, if necessary, which is a clear flaunt that there was no intention of abiding by the decision of the June convention. To the Lancaster people last night he said he accepted the call to be a candidate of the Republican party before the convention and had accepted no other call.

Mr. Wanamaker last night roundly scored the practice of soliciting political assessments from municipal employees. Mr. Wanamaker should recollect that all office holders, political aspirants and campaign conductors have not the satisfaction of owning such plethoric purses as the merchant prince possesses. In campaigns the benefitted party usually contributes according to his means and is graded by the office received. In the recent campaign for a President of the United States there was contributed to the campaign funds for the use of managers, over $1,000,000 by corporations alone, which money was used in the same manner and for the same purpose which Mr. Wanamaker now condemns. He is a believer in such subscriptions as far as his own case is concerned, and has always contributed generously from the fullness of his possessions to campaign expenses. It has been said that his gifts to the committee during the Harrison campaign, after which he was chosen to a cabinet post, was the largest individual donation ever made for such a purpose. Therefore his present position is inconsistent and untenable; either his past or present act calls for condemnation. Mr. Wanamaker did not accept the invitation of the Business Men to become a candidate until he had perfected his arrangements whereby he is to receive the support of the most despicable political despot and assessment extorter in the state—David Martin, of Philadelphia. Mr Wanamaker is either wilfully misrepresenting his motives and giving false translations of his conscience dictates or is incapacitated from comprehending more than of mud from day to day.

It is plainly evident that the promoters of Mr. Wanamaker's gubernatorial canvass do not intend to abide by any convention decision which does not meet their requirements. They are not that kind of people. They are bolters by instinct and habit; and they will not submit to the will of an adverse majority if they can succeed in manipulating their candidate.

Mr. Wanamaker must declare whether he is running for the nomination as a Republican candidate who will abide by the decision of the convention, or whether he is a candidate at any price.

William A. Stone has been perfectly frank in this regard. He has openly said that he is an aspirant for the convention nomination, but if unsuccessful will heartily support and lend all possible aid to the one who is chosen. His example is worthy of emulation.

The Hon. Hampton W. Rice, up to the present time is the only avowed candidate for State Senator who has developed any strength whatever for the position. Mr Rice has constructed a platform for himself which contains but a single plank, which is a pledge to endeavor to defeat for reelection a United States Senator who has been honored by the citizens of Pennsylvania with a continuance in office. Mr. Rice seeking promotion, desires also to be thus honored, and wishes to destroy a man who has done more for the state and his constituents than Mr. Rice can ever hope to do. If Mr. Rice desires an election to the upper House of the Legislature he should give the assurance that if the county convention protests against the election of Senator Quay that he will cast his vote in accordance, and if that body expresses the desire to retain the present Senatorial incumbent he will likewise use his influence accordingly. He has no right to attempt to seek the confidence and trust of the people if he intends not to heed their admonitions.

Banking Commissioner B. F. Gilkeson in his annual report shows that there were 195 institutions under the supervision of the State Banking Department at the close of fiscal year ending November 30th, 1897. He calls attention to the favorable showing made by the various financial institutions for the year just closed, especially the increase of deposits in the savings institutions, which shows the improved conditions of the wage earners of the State.

About a year ago while Congressman Wanger was lunching with some friends, among whom was a Bristolian, at the Senate restaurant, Congressman Stone was introduced to the visitors. When the Allegheny Congressman departed Mr. Wanger said to his friends: "I feel like going back to Montgomery and raising a Stone banner for the Governorship. He is a capable, efficient and worthy person for the position."

L. V. Powderly, of Pennsylvania, was yesterday confirmed by the Senate for Commissioner General of Immigration. The strong opposition of the foreign steamship companies was not sufficient to deter the Senate from ratifying President McKinley's appointment. The vote was 43 to 20 for confirmation.

Hawaiian annexation by treaty has been abandoned. It is likely absorption will be tried by the aid of a joint resolution in open legislation.

—George C. Dietrich, of Philadelphia, has secured the contract for building the mill at Eden for Rumph & Son, manufacturers of cotton coverlets, for $21,500.

SHOW YOUR COLORS.

Last Friday the Doylestown Republican devoted nearly a column of space ostensibly for the purpose of gratifying the curiosity of its readers, as to where it stood politically. We have read the article and must confess we are as much mystified as ever. The lengthy editorial starts off:

"Where does The Republican stand?" may be asked, now that Hon. John Wanamaker has decided to become a candidate for Governor in response to the invitation of the Bourse meeting. The answer is, just where it has always stood—for and with the majority of the party on any question of candidates and nominations.

What follows is entirely unnecessary for publication and a waste of space, as there is no further elucidation of the problem. Evidently the Republican lacks the courage of its convictions, if it possesses such an attribute. If it thinks the crowd who are clamoring for the nomination of John Wanamaker is worthy of its support, why does not the Republican come out openly and declare itself? It will gain more respect if it champions a cause which it deems just. The GAZETTE will certainly support the choice of the Republican convention, as a loyal unframmelled Republican paper should do, but that is no reason it should not use its influence in the endeavor to guide the people to a choice which will prove a benefit; to the selection of a man for Governor for whom the people can cast their votes with the knowledge that they are putting in office a person who is worthy their suffrage; a man who has no entangling alliances; a man who will have to answer to the Republican party of this state for any misstep he might take; who will owe it to that organization for the good that he will accomplish, and one not being foisted upon the people by a coterie of alleged Business Men.

A newspaper has another mission besides the mere chronicling of news. It is supposed to be a guide for the great army of readers who look to it for counsel and advice and when it fails in this particular it lacks one of its essential qualities. That is the editor's duty, that is why the people subscribe for newspapers. A newspaper man's time is devoted entirely to such matters, it is his stock in trade. Anybody can take their choice after the nominations are made, but your duty, Mr. Republican, to your constituency is that you shall counsel them in making such nominations.

The GAZETTE has not been backward in letting the people know where it stands. And it can be stated right here that any cause it espouses is given support entirely and absolutely because it is considered right. There is no intimidation, interference, outside influence or suggestion tincturing its course whatever. Up to the present time we have favored the nomination of William A. Stone for Governor of this state because it is thought he is the best man yet brought out for the position. His entire career is familiar to us and we know he is worthy the support of the people of Bucks county. When there is a better man in the field then we are ready to transfer our favor, and let our constituents have the benefit of such knowledge.

There are many papers in this section which are earnest supporters of the Business Mens League movement and we honor them for conscientious undertaking Our only desire in their case is that they may see the error of their ways Their straightforwardness is worthy of emulation.

The Republican is not honest in its March 11th editorial It is trying to carry water on both shoulders. By such a process it can gain neither respect or confidence from any faction

Don't be afraid to fly your colors, Brother Sellers, be what they may. It will be a relief even to yourself.

CONSCIOUS MERIT ITS OWN REWARD

State Senator Chris. Kauffman, of Lancaster, has been working hard to accomplish a renomination. If his title has been so clear and his course so straight and narrow—no deviation from the path of duty, to an outsider it would not appear necessary that he should be compelled to toil so laboriously to get the votes from the constituents whom he alleges he has served so faithfully. The very fact that he is obliged to so beg for votes is in the nature of a confession that he cares not to stand upon his record as he announced in the beginning. Upon this topic the Philadelphia Inquirer says:

The trouble with Mr. Kauffman is that his political affiliations are with the Leaches, VanValkenbergs and Martins, and he began his canvass by an attempt to mislead the people. He claimed great virtue for himself as the only one who had voted against the unpatented land bill, but both the Legislative Record and the Journal of the Senate had him recorded as dodging. Naturally, this discovery led to an investigation of his record, and the result has brought to him the title of the Artful Dodger, for he is recorded as not voting on 320 bills!

Mr. Kauffman may have served the Philadelphia Combiners well—doubtless he did, for he has their active support—but this record of his as a servant of the people is a sorry one. It shows the craftiness of the mere politician, an acquirement considered indispensible by Leach, VanValkenberg and David Martin.

Political Potsters.

William A. Twining, a prominent Republican of Northampton township, has announced his intention of becoming a candidate for the nomination of Recorder of Wills. In 1896 Mr. Twining was an aspirant for the office of Orphans Court Clerk, he lacked one vote from receiving the nomination at that time.

Ex-Assemblyman Frank A. Comly, of Ambler, is a candidate for Senator, on the Republican ticket, to succeed Henry D. Saylor, from Montgomery county.

Hon. B. F. Gilkeson, of Bristol, has announced himself as a candidate for delegate to the Republican state convention in the interest of John Wanamaker.

Captain F. G. Edwards, of Bristol, has been spoken of as a probable candidate for the Assembly nomination.

Walter F. Leedom, the Bristol coal baron, seeks the distinction of being a Wanamaker delegate to the State convention.

The Philadelphia Inquirer, in commenting upon the fact that the two Bucks county murderers are still at large, although large rewards are offered for their apprehension, seems to think we should brace up to our duty. But the Inquirer also acknowledges Philadelphia's short comings and says: "Meanwhile, since people who live in glass houses should not throw stones, who was it that killed Major Wilson?"

THE BOROUGH STATEMENT.

The annual statement of the borough treasurer, showing the receipts and expenditures of the borough for the fiscal year ending March 1st, is published in to-day's GAZETTE. It deserves from those who are interested in the borough's welfare especial attention. While council, as constituted during the past year, was not all that it might have been, both in extravagant expenditure in one direction, and narrow parsimony in the other, yet the outcome shows a comfortable balance on the right side of the ledger, and the town in regard to its most important requirements in fair condition.

The four items that consume the great bulk of the revenue of the borough are the improvement of the streets, the lighting of the streets, the policing of the borough, and the expenses incident to protection from fire.

Of these the sum devoted to the repairs to the streets is much the largest. Over six thousand dollars were expended last year for this purpose It was money well spent. The permanent improvement of the streets is an investment that pays. It adds to the convenience of the people; it increases the value of real estate, and the money spent in this direction shows for years after it has been placed. The howl that used to be annually raised against this use of a portion of the borough funds has happily subsided and there is but little doubt that the good work will go on in this direction until every street in the borough is in the best kind of condition.

The lighting of the streets is also another considerable item of necessary expense. It cost over $3,000 last year. The placing of additional lamps in different parts of the borough increases the cost each year, and, if arc lights are introduced during the coming year, as now seems probable, a larger appropriation than $3,000 will have to be made to cover the expense. A well lighted town, though, is a great boon to its inhabitants. Crime and rowdyism shun the light, and next to an efficient police force there is nothing that the borough authorities can do to make a town morally healthy than by giving it plenty of light.

The police force might be much improved without increasing the expense. There are members of the force who should be retired and their places given to better men. We will not particularize. The people at large, the members of council, and especially the Police committee need no indication about this from the GAZETTE. They know who the capable and efficient officers are and who are the useless and unservicenable ones. It costs over $3,500 a year to maintain the police force

The fire department is in a very satisfactory condition. The apparatus is in good repair, and the men are active and zealous in their work when occasion demands their services. Its cost to the borough during the past year amounted to $1772.

The cash balance in the treasurer's hands amounts to $1382.69, a larger sum than has been found at the close of a fiscal year for a long time.

Rural Mail Delivery Route.

Cornwall Woolston, of Eden, free rural mail delivery man for this immediate section, went over his proposed route last Friday, accompanied by E G. Harrison, the Government Good Roads Commissioner. It took nearly four hours to make the trip, which is in the neighborhood of twenty miles long. The start was made from Eden, Bristol was reached about 8.30 a. m.

The report of the route has been forwarded to Washington for approval, and when returned favorably, Mr. Woolston will begin his daily travels. Government letter boxes are to be placed at various points on the route wherever a farmer or resident of the district may wish placed on the road upon payment for the box. The box is to have two compartments, one to be opened only by the owner of the box, and the other, the government section, only by the carrier.

The route of this delivery is as follows: Hulmeville to Newportville, to Bristol, via the cemetery. Bristol to Badger school house; through Jesse Booz's farm to Bridgewater, to Eddington. From Eddington school house, to Hard corner, to Bensalem post office, to Scott's corner via Hulmeville road, to Flushing school house, to Hulmeville via Walter Johnson's estate.

Electric Lights in Tullytown.

Workmen have laid the foundations in the Black Horse Hotel yard at Tullytown for an iron framework, forty feet high, which is to support a large water rank holding 2000 gallons. The water heretofore has been supplied to the hotel from a small tank operated by a windmill. A large gasoline engine will be installed which will have sufficient power to keep the tank full of water and furnish electric lights in all parts of the hotel, besides lighting up several of the business houses in the vicinity. Mr. Lovett has already a complete system of hot water heating in the hotel, and now intends having water under pressure in all the rooms.

—The well-known actress, Lillian Kennedy, who was a great favorite with Bristol people when the Bristol Opera House was in its prime, died at Utica, N. Y., from an attack of apoplexy. In private life Miss Kennedy was Mrs. Charles Hassenforder, and her home was in Philadelphia. She was 38 years old and had been married sixteen years. Her husband was the manager of the company in which she was starring.

—Goodwill Hose Co. No. 3 is having some trouble in securing the Slack property on Bath street for their new hose house. The company has made a deposit with Mrs. Shade to bind the bargain; since then she has changed her mind and concluded she did not wish to dispose of the property. It is not yet known what the plans of the company are in reference to the matter.

—Additional news of local interest will be found on the second, third and fourth pages of this issue. Next week we will reconstruct the make-up of the GAZETTE. The first page will be devoted to county news and items gathered in near-by towns; the second page will be reserved for editorial utterances; the third exclusively for local news and the fourth for miscellaneous reading.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Little Emma Fisher Struck by a Trolley Car on Bath Street and Instantly Killed.

Emma Fisher, eight years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fisher, living on Garden street, and a pupil of the Bath street public school, in Miss Carrie Minster's room, was struck by a trolley car and instantly killed at four o'clock Monday afternoon. The children were just coming out of the Bath street school and playing in the street, and as has been a custom with them, would play with lay pebbles and pins on the street car tracks just before the approach of the Langhorne & Bristol trolley. The little girl ran out of the school and stooped down, evidently with the intention of placing something on the track directly in front of the car, which struck her on the head, killing her instantly. The screams of the children attracted the attention of Miss Alice Lippincott, a teacher in the building. She had just started home, but upon reaching the scene of the accident the child was dead. Miss Lippincott says the several teachers in the building have cautioned the children time and time again about playing on the tracks and have punished them several times for doing so.

It is supposed that the bright sun of the afternoon dazed the child's eyes so that she did not realize how close the car was. The motorman in charge of the car was Charles Johnson, of Langhorne. He is said to be the most efficient, capable and careful man on the line. He felt so badly at having been the indirect cause of the accident that he was unable to say anything for some time, and was utterly unable for work the next day.

The child is one of a large family of small children, and the father is employed in Leedom's carpet mill.

This is the first fatal trolley accident occurring in the county.

The coroner's inquest was held at Fine's hotel Tuesday evening. The members of the jury were: William H. H. Fine, Harvey S. Rue, William Terneson, Max Sommerfeld, E. W. Minster and William B. Douglass. The passengers on the car, Caleb T. Lawrence, Jonathan Gilham, Jr., Frederick Reetz and John Booz, all testified that the trolley car was slowed down and not going much faster than a man could walk; that the car was stopped as soon as possible and that the motorman continually rang the gong upon approaching the schoolhouse.

Charles Johnson, the motorman testified that he left Langhorne at 3:04 with small car No. 1, due at Bristol at 3:50, he being in charge; that in the middle of the day cars Nos. 1 and 3 were run without conductors except Saturdays and Sundays; that he was always at his post except when tickets were collected and these were always taken after the car had stopped at its destination in Bristol, the rear gates being closed and all passengers would have to pass him before they could get off. The car did not have fenders, but did not think they would have saved the child's life as she was struck by the corner of the car. The car was stopped immediately after it had gone only six or eight feet clear of the body. He first saw the little girl as she was running very nearly straight across the street, by herself, a few feet in front of the car and that there were a great many children on the sidewalk, but scarcely any in the street.

Joseph Vanzant, the janitor of the building, was standing in the doorway and saw the child run out into the street into the car and did not think it possible for the motorman to have prevented the accident.

William Fisher, an uncle of the child, who has known her from birth, said she was eight years old the 18th of last December and was the brightest of a large family of small children.

The jury after being out a short time rendered the verdict Emma Fisher came to her death by being struck by car No. 1 of the Langhorne and Bristol Trolley company, and exonerated motorman Charles Johnson, of Langhorne, from all blame.

The board of directors of the Trolley company, at its regular meeting on Tuesday, passed resolutions of regret and sympathy and sent them to the child's parents and they also decided that in case the evidence before the coroner established the fact that the company was not to blame for the accident, they would express their sympathy in a more substantial manner by requesting Mr. Fisher to allow the company to bear the expenses of the funeral.

The funeral was held this afternoon, the interment being in the Bristol cemetery.

Notes by the Horse Editor.

Billy Barnes has traded his bay gelding for Winnie the Scrapper, the champion of Bristol. This mare has made the fastest time over the Bristol track of any of the local flyers. Barnes says that he will take the measurement of Minster's Mantlepiece Laid before the season is over, even if he has to put roller skates on the mare to do it.

William Downing can be seen any fine afternoon at the track, so Barnes says, behind the conquering Selem, which goes nicely with his game foot front.

Poor Max Sommerfeld is in despair, so Barnes says. His Blue Anchor trotter has not developed much speed. The effort is there, but there seems to be too much lost motion. Max is thinking of changing the gear, and in time may bring up to the front, as he is an old trainer and understands his business.

Billy Lantell's George K. is a good camp meeting horse, so Barnes says, but his tracking career is over. He is now loaned to the belles of the town.

Rattle-head Intriket is as much of a puzzle as ever, so Barnes says, but since he carries all the network fastened to all fours it is hard to tell where he will stop.

Joe Wright is contemplating leasing Patsy Klinker to a local undertaker, so Barnes says, and not to the ice company as was reported.

Barnes says that George Horn should give Martha about two quarts more a day, as there is a perceptible emaciation. Martha is young and requires careful attention.

Borough Council Proceedings.

The regular meeting of the Bristol Borough Council as at present constituted was held in the council chamber on Monday evening.

There were present, W. Frank Scull president, and Messrs. Collier, Evans, Fenton, Joyce, Milner, McCarry, Smith, Samuel Scott, Thomas Scott, Whiting and Wright.

A communication from the Burgess, Benjamin S. Johnson, was received, enclosing a letter from the secretary of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company complaining of the condition of the trunk under the canal between locks Nos. 1 and 2. The company asked for the privilege of making temporary repairs now and permanent repairs hereafter at the Borough's expense. Two members of the Street committee, Messrs. Fetrow and Wright, explained that the committee had attended to the matter and that the repairs had been made after the communication was received. Burgess Johnson also called the attention of Council to the bad pavement at Schull's news agency. Mr. Fetrow stated that the pavement had just been put in good condition.

The Finance committee reported that it had audited the borough treasurer's account and had examined and verified the items in his statement. The committee also presented two ordinances, one relative to building permits and the other to the office of building inspector, which passed the first reading and were laid over under the rules until the next meeting.

The Street committee reported that the cinder path on Dorrance and Canal streets was not yet made; that the pavement near the post office had been fixed, and also a bad place on Pond street, and reported progress in the matter of arc lights on Mill, Bath and Buckley streets. On motion the report was received and filed.

The Police committee reported 12 arrests during the month and 548 tramps lodged at the station house.

The Fire committee made no report.

The Sanitary and Nuisance committee made no report.

The fourth annual report of the Fire Engineer stated that the Fire Engine was in good condition, and that the other fire apparatus of the borough was in good condition except one truck; that the fire alarm system was in good working order and had already saved its cost in quick notification of one fire; that there were 4300 feet of hose belonging to the Department The Engineer, Wright Marshall, recommended the placing of two additional fire alarm boxes, one on Jefferson avenue and one on Mill street.

A communication from Dr. H. Pursell, president of the Bristol Board of Health, asking for an appropriation of $70 to cover deficiencies of the present fiscal year was referred to the Finance committee.

A number of bills were presented, read and passed.

The retiring president, W. Frank Scull, thanked council for its uniform courtesy while he was in the chair.

On motion the council returned thanks for the impartial manner in which the president presided over the deliberations of that body and then adjourned.

Unreciprocated Love.

Dr. J. M. Birkey, of Newportville, was arrested on last Tuesday morning and brought before Judge Booz, of Bristol, on a warrant for surety of the peace, sworn out by Miss Lizzie P. Gosline, a very attractive young lady, about twenty-five years old, who is also a resident of Newportville.

Miss Gosline testified that Dr. Birkey was continually annoying her by protestations of love and asking her to marry him. She declared that he threatened to shoot her if she did not comply with his wishes. She did not care for him and wished to be relieved of the continual annoyance.

On the evidence of Miss Gosline the Judge held Dr. Birkey under $500 bail to keep the peace.

At Bethel A. M. E. Church, Wood street, on Tuesday evening next there will be a grand entertainment, the special attraction being Miss Mae Jones, vocalist and elocutionist, who has recently won many laurels on the stage.

Engine Company No. 1 the Winner.

The magnificent silver trumpet to be given to the most popular fire company receiving the most votes at No. 3 Company's fair which terminated last Saturday evening, was won by Engine Co. No 1 receiving 2009 votes to 1531 secured by America Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. No. 2.

The fair was successful beyond expectation, over $500 being cleared for the purchase of their new quarters, and from now henceforth No. 3 will be recorded as one of the strong companies of Bristol.

The other prizes won were a ton of coal by J. Fenton, a barrel of flour by Thomas L. Hall, an umbrella by Lewis Rue, and a box of cigars by J. Keating.

The company's mascot, the goat, and sulky and harness, were won by William Priestley's little girl Beatrice; baby coach by Samuel May, clock by Joseph McCoy.

—George Leatherbury disclaims any responsibility as to the manner in which Walter Jackson's place on Mill street is conducted, as was stated in last week's paper. Mr. Leatherbury is only an employee of Walter Jacksons. We make this correction with pleasure at his request as it relieves him of the responsibility of the mismanagement of the place.

A HEAVY SENTENCE.

A Fourth Ward Speak Easy Abolished.

Judge Yerkes Imposes a Fine of $5,000 and an Imprisonment of Twelve Months on Rosy McKnight.

Monday night Constable Henry Rue and Officer John Wilkinson arrested Mrs. John McCue, alias Rosy McKnight, who keeps a small shop on Pine street, and Mrs. Bridget Sweeney, the owner of a like establishment on the small street between Race and Spruce streets. The arrest was made on a bench warrant issued by Judge Yerkes upon information furnished him by Amanda Higgins, the colored woman who was being tried for so cruelly holding a child's hands on a red hot stove. Mrs. Higgins said she was so drunk she did not know what she was doing, having purchased one dozen bottles of beer and a pint of whiskey from Mrs. McCue. Bridget Sweeney and Mrs. McCue were locked up and taked to Doylestown early the next morning for trial by the officers making the arrests.

The grand jury brought in a true bill against Rosy McKnight, charging her with selling liquor without a license and ignored the bill against Bridget Sweeney, charged with the same offense.

Rosy McKnight was then put upon trial and convicted. Judge Yerkes gave her the full benefit of the law and sentenced her to twelve months imprisonment in jail and $5,000 fine.

In passing sentence the Judge said that he would exercise what authority he possessed to break up speak-easies, and told the prisoner if she were ever again convicted of selling liquor without a license he would make the punishment such that she would wish she had never seen a glass of whiskey.

Another Trolley.

A new trolley line may be constructed in this vicinity that will connect with the Langhorne and Bristol line at Midway. Mr. Joseph Lovett, of Emilie, acting for Col. Edward de V. Morrell, is securing the right of way for a trolley from Eddington to Trenton, to be run in connection with the Philadelphia and Bristol company. The right of way for most of the distance has been secured. The proposed route is from Eddington to Newportville, where a bridge will have to be constructed across the Neshaminy, thence to Midway, to Fallsington, to Trenton.

Bucks County Farms Scarce.

Several years ago farms in this section of the county went begging for tenants. When one moved away it was nearly impossible to secure another responsible man. Many farms did not return to their owners enough money to cancel taxes. All is changed now. Mr. Benjamin J. Taylor, of Bristol, the owner of a large number of farms in this section, says that at present there are more applicants for farms than there are farms. Several years ago he had a dozen idle farms but at present has only one.

A Complete Establishment.

Johnson Brothers, the popular clothiers at the corner of Mill and Wood streets, are now ready for the Fall and Winter trade. They can dress a man from head to toe in the best style and for a small amount of cash. Their Clothing, Hats, Caps, Underwear, Hosiery, Shoes and Neckwear, are all of the latest styles and best makes. They have suits from $5 to $20, honest goods and well made. Hats, from 40 cts., to $3.00. Underwear from $1.00 to $3.00 per suit; and shoes, well made, neat, strong and substantial, at various prices. For reliable goods, bought from standard houses, go to Johnson Brothers. They keep no auction trash upon their premises.

AMONG THE EXCHANGES.

The Hatboro Spirit furnishes the following item relating to "government ownership": "The newspapers say Quay's ambition is to own a Governor.' He is doing better than that, for so far as appointments go, he owns a President."

The Skippack Transcript is anxious for the band to begin to play. That paper says: "It is March 11. The county convention in Bucks county to elect State delegates takes place in April. And yet Col. B. F. Gilkeson, of that county, is reported to have said, when asked about the political outlook: 'There will be no politics until the county convention meets in April.'"

The Glendive (Montana) Independent in commenting upon a wedding in that town says of the happy couple: "Both the bride and groom are well and favorably known in Dawson county, where they are engaged in business, the bride in raising horses on the south fork of Burns creek, while the groom is interested in cattle near the mouth of Burns creek. May their pathway through life be ever strewed with roses is the sentiment voiced by The Independent and their many friends." It seems to be a case of from fork to mouth.

The Harleysville News gives the following "war news." Evidently the News editor as an interested party is not timid about getting in and make a "finish" of the affair, even if it is necessary to hire a hall for the purpose. The Harleysville combatant says: "There are just six editors, all members of the Press League, "scrapping" at the present time. The trouble seems to be that they cannot agree upon the race problem, factional politics, and as to who has the "largest circulation." Is the mission of the Press League a failure? We hope not. Brother Clayton, hurry that building and get the warring editors together, or we must call upon Mr. Thomas, the founder of the organization, to act as peacemaker."

The Ambler Gazette has the following to say regarding the tollgate: "In New Jersey the turnpike tollgate will soon be a thing of the past. They will be abolished, the companies compensated by the State, and all travel made free. This will of course be popular, because people generally hate to pay tolls. There is a reason this can be done safely in New Jersey that does not exist in Pennsylvania. That State years ago wisely passed a road law that really meant to secure good roads, and it is everywhere accomplishing its object, with the approbation of the farmers as well as other classes of the community. When the public roads are all macadamized there is no excuse or necessity for toll roads."

Truly wonderful is the telepathic power possessed by many of the newspaper editors of the country. They are able to record the very thoughts of prominent individuals. The strangest part is their power is usually successfully manifested in conjunction with a negative force. It is not necessary to be en rapport. Senator Quay appears to be a favorite subject by these prodigies. The Doylestown Mirror came out from under the "influence" and gave the following: "Boss Quay is getting worried. He feels that the election that takes place for the next Governor of this State will have a considerable bearing on his aspirations for a return to the seat in the Senate of the United States. He has expressed himself as not being in favor of any nomination that will look as if it had been dictated. He will have a difficult time to convince the people of the State, however, that a candidate favorable to his candidacy for the Senatorship has not been dictated by him."

Senator Quay has repeatedly asserted that he has no candidate for Governor. William A. Stone has likewise repeatedly asserted that he is the creature of no man's dictation; that he is responsible to the Republican party as an organization, and is controlled by no individual. These declarations appear to be of no effect in silencing the continual charges of a hostile press. Do they believe all men are liars except those who are enshrined within the holy precincts of the Business Men's League? The North Wales Record would evidently be tickled if it thought the following statement was true: "It seems to us that if Senator Quay knew what was best for his own interest he would drop all aspirants for the Governorship, keep his hands and collar off and allow the Republicans of Pennsylvania to select their own candidate. The party seeks and desires leaders and advisers, but will not tolerate a boss. Hon. William A. Stone is an able man, but the impression is abroad—and correctly—that he is the choice of Messrs. Quay, Andrews & Co. The party is determined not to have another Delamater campaign thrust upon it."

The Doylestown Intelligencer nearly goes into hysterics at the very suggestion of harmony. An offering of peace to the Intelligencer is like the traditional flaunting of a red rag in the eyes of an enraged bull. It sets up a war cry that is intimidating at the thought of supporting any gubernatorial candidate who is on speaking terms with Senator Quay. A machine is an institution which it abhors, in the present case, because it is of a pattern which it cannot operate. There is no objection, of course, to the Martin, Magee, Wanamaker, Business Men's League, as like Rep. Van Winkle's expression, "this one don't count." Lisen to the tale of woe: "The consciences and brains of these Republicans are not to be cajoled by the change of machine choice, nor the selection of a nominee by three or four State bosses rather than one. It will be no better that two or three leaders agree upon a man, in the interest of harmony, than that one man selects the candidate. The Republican masses are heartily tired of this domination, this depraving servitude, this party dictatorship—whether the orders come from Washington only, or from Washington, Philadelphia and Pittsburg jointly. The principle, the tyranny, the servitude, the non-representation, the autocratic despotism, the arrogant dictation by servants; instead of the exercise of a free judgment, by free men, in a free party; is what is intolerable, un-Republican, unsafe for country or party and not to be endured by self-respecting, full grown men."

THURSDAY MARCH 17, 1898.

Cuba and China.

There is little apparent connection between these two countries in their present situation, and yet there might easily be a very real relation between them.

In China England has a direct interest in not letting Russia obtain permanent possession of any territory. England does not want China herself, but England is a trading nation. Her prosperity at home depends on the amount of her commerce abroad. If Russia and Germany got possession of the Chinese coast, they would hamper trade with restrictions particularly irksome to other countries. England wants the ports of China to be free to all nations. On account of our great and growing commerce between Asia and our Pacific ports the United States also wants open trade with China. Thus it seems that we might indirectly become mixed up in the eastern question.

Diplomatists in England see great Anglo-American understanding. Suppose war should come between the United States and Spain. England, with her great fleets, could easily prevent a Spanish ship from even leaving port to attack the United States. In return, if a contest should come between England and Russia, the United States could back up Great Britain in the demand for free Chinese ports. Japan would add her weight on the same side, and these three powers could stand against the world. That is the idea in the minds of some Englishmen in their present attitude of friendliness to this country.

Southerners on Lynching.

It would be a mistake for northern people to conclude that all the south approves of lynching or of the murder of the negro postmaster in South Carolina. It is to be noted, by the way, that the murder occurred on Washington's birthday.

The Charleston News and Courier hopes the United States authorities will hunt down and punish the lynchers. The News and Courier is justly concerned for the good name of South Carolina. It observes editorially:

Frazier B. Baker, the postmaster at Lake City, Williamsburg county, was murdered by a mob on Feb. 22. His dwelling was burned to the ground, the postoffice, which was kept there, was destroyed with all its contents, his own body and the body of one of his children were cremated in the burning house, and his wife and two children were seriously, perhaps fatally, wounded. About 1 o'clock at night Baker's house was surrounded by a mob composed of several hundred men, who applied the torch to the building and opened fire upon the place. These are the facts of one of the most dastardly crimes ever committed in this blood stained state, and should make an impression upon public sentiment in South Carolina. Whether they do or not, they will make an impression upon public sentiment throughout the country. The murder of Baker is the sixth lynching that has occurred in South Carolina since the beginning of the new year.

The Columbia State is even more emphatic in its denunciation of the deed. After recounting briefly the facts of the tragedy, The State says:

And this in South Carolina; this in a state and neighborhood where people read and vote and sit on juries, where Christianity is professed, where the church and the schoolhouse send out their teachings, and the supremacy of law, the enforcement of justice, are the conditions of the social compact! Great God, could Apache savages be more cruel, more ruthless, more lustful of blood than these civilized white men of Williamsburg county?

The attitudes of France and England toward us in the present issue with Spain are exactly the reverse of what might be expected. France, a republic, sympathizes openly with Spain against us. England, the monarchy, is on our side. Even the London Times says, "President McKinley appears to us to be adhering loyally to the policy of firmness, caution and pacific circumspection which he has pursued in regard to foreign affairs during his first year in office." The London Daily Mail remarks: "Now is the time to show the sincerity of our many recent professions of sympathy with our kinsmen across the sea. It may be taken for granted that they want nothing from us but sympathy and that without it they will come out on the right side, but the people of this country as a people will certainly never hesitate in their sympathy between America and Spain."

The indictment on which Sheriff Martin and his deputies were tried for shooting down striking miners at Lattimer was that of murder. The jury acquitted them of this charge on the ground that the shooting was a justifiable homicide; that the deputies were obliged to shoot in order to save their lives. It was proved, however, that the strikers were wholly unarmed. The friends of the dead strikers are emphatic in the assertion that they will have a new trial.

Spain had no right to object to the conveying of supplies in warships from the United States to her starving subjects in Cuba. The warships belong to the United States, to be sent by this government on any sort of errand. If we sent the supplies in merchant vessels, steamers would have to be hired for the purpose and would cost a large sum.

Headline in the decent newspaper—"The house unanimously voted $50,000,000 for national defenses." In the hysterical, scare head rush, froth at the mouth, rend its garment yellow journal, in type an inch long—"Fifty million war fund voted in a mighty outburst of patriotism, warning the world that the flag shall not be stained."

The bill appropriating $50,000,000 for national defenses was passed through congress without debate. Debate? No, but there was a power of speechmaking in the house. Let no deluded mortal think the great American orator is extinct. For four hours the eagle screamed in the house of representatives.

From this time on no true American will ever object to the government's spending money for coast defenses and the navy.

A Flying Squadron.

The naval vessels that constitute a flying squadron are among the most valuable a country can have in time of actual war. Such a squadron is composed of a number of swift cruisers and vessels that can be used as such.

Among the naval preparations now engaging the attention of our government is the formation of a flying squadron. The object of it would be to cross the ocean, fly about from place to place and harass the enemy's ports, preventing the shipping of military supplies and merchandise from such ports. The vessels of such a fleet are not expected to do heavy sea fighting with warships. Their work is rather with merchant vessels and transports. They take the place in a measure of the old time privateer that once did such damage to commerce in the West Indies and elsewhere.

Our regular naval vessels that would be used in the fleet of a flying squadron are the armored cruiser Brooklyn and the sister triple screw cruisers Minneapolis and Columbia. The armored cruiser Brooklyn is the largest of the three and would be the flagship of the fleet. One of the still smaller cruisers might be added. These would be the base of the fleet. In addition there would be put with them one or both of the great American passenger liners St. Paul and St. Louis. In case of need the New York and the Paris could be pressed into this service too. When a government subsidizes a steamship line, as our government indirectly did the American line, the understanding is that it shall have the services of the steamers if it needs them.

As to Protoplasm.

The word protoplasm means first material. The name is given to what is believed to be the original formative material of the animal body. All cells are formed of protoplasm. It is the substance in which the principle of life works. When animal life first manifested itself on this globe, it did so in the form of a single, simple cell made of protoplasm. Professor Tyndall has left this on record as his opinion.

Protoplasm being living matter or the original life substance, if you have plenty of it in your body and it is of good quality, then you will have vigorous health. Waste of muscle or of brain occasioned by hard work can be quickly repaired.

Coarse people have loose, coarse protoplasm; fine people have a fine quality of it.

In a paper in The Journal of Hygiene Dr. M. L. Holbrook says that children and young people have plenty of this matter, but that the old and the sickly have comparatively little. If old people could keep up their protoplasm, they would be apt to "live on and on." Dr. Holbrook observes that Nansen, the explorer, has a very large amount of living matter in his body. "He has a deep chest, a broad back, powerful muscular system, little fat, a well integrated brain."

How is your protoplasm?

It is odd and not what we might have expected at first thought, the undoubted sympathy of France with Spain instead of with us. In the present crisis France, the only large republic except ourselves in the world, is all on the side of Spain, the rottenest and cruelest old monarchy of Europe, and against her sister republic. The reason is the inherent vanity and jealousy of the French character. France sees in us a nation whose power, wealth and commercial supremacy exceed her own and sees us likewise growing greater every year, and she cannot endure it without irritation. However, her pro-Spanish sympathies do not go to the extent of lending money to Spain. The French are too canny for that. Sympathy in words does not cost anything, therefore the French pour it out upon Spain.

A count of the national guard in all the states and territories shows that the United States has of organized militia only 120,561. If war should be suddenly declared, our little regular army of 25,000 men and these national guardsmen would be all the president could summon at a day's notice. It is true we have ten or a dozen millions of men that could be called on, but they are undrilled and in every way unprepared for fighting. The national guard ought to be increased and every effort made to drill the members and make soldiers of them. Every state ought to have five trained militiamen where now it has one. It should be made an honorable distinction to a young man to have himself drilled and ready to go when his country calls at any moment. The tendency to extravagance among national guardsmen ought to be sat upon and crushed, so that poor young men could join the regiments and feel themselves as good as anybody. Snobbery among private soldiers is as bad as snobbery among officers.

It is not worth while to belittle the seriousness of a war with Spain. Two or three Spanish cruisers could batter down half the cities along our Atlantic coast in a week and we could not get our naval vessels on the scene in time to prevent it. We have the largest coast line to defend of any country on earth. In the long run of course we would triumph over Spain, but she could do a lot of damage on our coasts first.

Some men are for counsel, others for war. One of the latter is Commander Bob Evans of the United States navy. The most picturesque war remark in the present crisis is attributed to him. He declared that if he once got a chance at the Spaniards there would not be anything but Spanish spoken in the infernal regions for many months.

New York has the most men enrolled in the national guard—13,891. Next comes Pennsylvania with 8,521. It seems rather odd that Indiana should have more than either Ohio or Illinois. Indiana shows up 7,875, Ohio 6,004. Ohio's patriotism seems to run to politics more than to war. Illinois has 6,260 national guardsmen.

It requires six days for passengers to travel from New York to Seattle ordinarily and freight two weeks or more. But the roads that had the contract for transporting the reindeer and Laplanders put them through from coast to coast in six days, a journey unprecedented in quickness for freight.

Poisoned Blood

Disagreeable Itching Spread All Over His Body—Sleep Disturbed—Hood's Sarsaparilla Drove Out the Poison and Cured.

"I have been poisoned every summer for years. Last summer the poison came out on me worse than ever before. I would frequently be awakened during the night by the itching. I would scratch myself, but instead of being relieved the trouble spread to different parts of my body. I tried various remedies which people recommended to me, but none of them ever helped me. I made up my mind the poison could not be cured until my blood was pure and then I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. While taking the first bottle I felt relieved from the itching. I kept on taking the medicine and it has entirely cured me. I am now on my fourth bottle and I can sleep soundly at night." WILLIAM RAN, 3126 Westmont Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

A landslide occurred at James Schuveline's stone quarry, at Yardley, on Tuesday. The foreman, John Burns, was seriously injured, as was also an Italian workman, Domino Pedro. Thomas Hayes was rendered unconscious. A horse and cart were almost buried.

The grain bin of the Yardley Mills collapsed on Tuesday. There were 7000 bushels of wheat stored in the bin. Over 200 bushels were washed away by falling into the tail race of the mill.

A notable gathering of Montgomery County Republicans will be present Friday night at a banquet to Senator Snyder, at Pottstown, in honor of his appointment as Consul at Matanzas, Cuba.

A Bucks County Pensioner.

Representative Wanger's bill to pension William H. Oliver, late a private in Company C, 104th Penna. Volunteers, has been favorably reported to the House, with an amendment, increasing the rate of pension from $12 to $30 per month. Mr. Oliver is a citizen of Bucks county, residing near Pineville. Never was a more deserving case brought before the notice of the Government. Mr. Oliver is totally blind in both eyes, and has been for a number of years. He is also growing in years, and his mind is feeble. His wife is almost helpless, being a sufferer from paralysis. Mr. Oliver served full three or more years in the late war, and was always to the front and in the thickest of every engagement the 104th participated in—not feigning sickness or lying in a hospital to escape duty. He deserves every cent Mr. Wanger's bill awards him, and ought to have had the increase years ago.—North Wales Record.

BRISTOL INDUSTRIES

THE BRISTOL WOOD WORKING MILL AND LUMBER YARD.

This plant was established by Joseph Sherman in 1870 and conducted by him until January 1, 1881, when Wm. C. Peirce became a partner, and the business was there after conducted under the firm name of Sherman & Peirce. On August 20th, 1891, the mill was totally destroyed by fire, the origin of which was unknown. It was rebuilt within a few months, the present two-story brick structure being the result. Mr. Sherman, who had been an invalid for several years, died in the spring of 1895, and until March 1st of the present year Mr. Peirce managed the business under the same firm name. G. L. Williams then purchased the Sherman interest and a partnership was formed between Mr. Peirce and Mr. Williams under the style of Peirce & Williams, the plant to be known as The Bristol Wood Working Mill.

The business includes the working of wood into all the various kinds of mill work used in house building, including frames, sash, doors, shutters, mouldings, porch columns, brackets, stairwork, etc., either in pine or hardwoods, a specialty being made of fine veneered work. One section of the mill is devoted to the manufacture of engraving boards, which are shipped to show printing houses in various parts of the country, and many thousands of hot-bed sash are sold yearly to the New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore markets. In conjunction with the lumber yard, every possible requirements in the wood or wood-working line can be supplied.

—Sometimes the most careful women are the most careless. Many a woman bundles herself up, to keep out sickness—when she is neglecting the very worst sickness that can come to a woman. She allows a slight disorder to become worse, to slowly sap her vitality. The little pain and the other slight indications of trouble seem to her unimportant. She goes on, with increasing suffering, until life itself becomes a drag. Nervousness, "sinking spells," digestive disturbances, and fifty other complications may arise from the derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Over thirty years ago, the need for a reliable remedy for so-called "female complaints" was recognized by Dr. R. V. Pierce, then, as now, chief consulting physician to the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y. He prepared Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the most wonderfully effective remedy that has ever been used for such maladies.

One of Two Ways.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, set your urine aside for twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention the GAZETTE and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer.

FROM POINTS NEAR BY.

HULMEVILLE.

The Lenten sermons of the Rev. Dr. Wright are attracting large congregations to Grace Church. Last Sunday he took as his text "Let no man deceive you with vain words." The thought of the sermon was that all kinds of theories are presented to lead men and women to consider their sins, not as the results of an actual evil power, but rather as the results of natural proclivities and tendencies over which they have no control and for which they cannot be held responsible. The preacher admitted the natural sinful proclivities and tendencies, but he made the strong argument against these false teachers, that men and women have other endowments than those of an evil character—endowments and powers to enable them to overcome the evil ones—and that we are personally responsible for not using the good to overpower the evil.

Several Hulmeville citizens are having their carriages repainted by our artist in this kind of work, Will Gill. Mr. Spencer Hibb's buggy is now gorgeous with carmine wheels. Mr. John Laros will have a more brilliant finish on his phaeton, and even the parson of Grace church is talking about getting his phaeton "done up". Mr. Thomas Goben "the butcher," and Mr. Charley Allerbach, "the baker," are having their new wagons painted in the latest style of the art.

The Rev. Samuel Johnson, pastor of the M. E Church, is attending the annual Conference in Chester, Pa. The Methodists of this community have, without any dissenting voice, requested his return. His labors during the first year of his pastorate have been eminently successful, and the people are very much alarmed over the possibility of his being sent to some other field of work.

Mr. Thomas Newbold Woolman was in Hulmeville on Sunday making arrangements for an illustrated lecture on "The Dark Side of City Life," by Mr. Draper, who was for several years a worker in the Rescue Mission in New York City. We understand that this lecture will be given early in April.

Mr. William Austin, of Tuckerton, N. J., a very brilliant young mechanician, has been seeking rest and recreation in this locality during the last week. He finds time, however, to examine the workings of the machinery in the several mills.

Mr. Alex Crosson has moved from the house on Trenton avenue in which he lived for over twenty years. He is now residing with his daughter, Mrs. Willets, on Main street.

The beautiful Spring weather of the past week has brought out several of our confirmed fishermen. One of them was successful in getting three nibbles.

Miss Lizzie Douglass, who has been absent for more than a month, returned on Saturday night.

The Misses Lillie Gill and Maggie Mahan were away visiting friends.

FALLSINGTON.

Tobias Swope has had a porch added to his house.

Mrs C. B. Leavitt was a visitor in the village on Monday

Will E. B. Watson will enter the Williamson School on April 11th.

George H. Watson has built an addition to the barn of Henry Carver.

The Epworth League of Oxford Valley will give an entertainment on the 26th.

The Supervisors met at the National Hotel on Tuesday to settle the accounts of 1897.

Miss Jennie B. Moon, of Philadelphia, was a Sunday visitor at the home of her parents.

The iron girders have arrived for the new bridge over the cut-off railroad on the Trenton road.

John B. Satterthwaite, who is attending school at Moorestown, N. J., came home on a visit Friday.

The public schools of Fallsington will give an entertainment in Library Hall on Friday evening, 25th inst.

M. A. Kirby, who recently purchased the Adam Matlack property, will erect a feed warehouse on the same.

The crocus has made its appearance. The yard of James T. Watson makes quite a display with its hundreds of blossoms.

The regular monthly meeting of the teachers of Falls Township will be held in the Fallsington school house on Friday, 18th.

Watson & Hibbs have the contract for remodelling the residence of Joseph Brown, of Emilie, and will commence work this week.

Several of our citizens saw Denman Thompson and company play the "Old Homestead" in the Trenton Opera House on Saturday evening.

The entertainment given by the Gilbert Concert Company last week was very good, but did not have as large an audience as it deserved.

LOWER BENSALEM.

The spring birds have been heard singing their merry tunes.

Miss E. C. Ridge, of Bensalem, spent Sunday with friends in Olney.

Cornwell's M. E. church had a very large congregation Sunday evening.

Miss Annie Henry, of Wayne, was the guest of the Misses Johnson last Sunday.

Miss Lizzie Lorimer is at home and sang solos in the Eddington Presbyterian church on two Sabbaths, also at some of the extra services.

The scholars of the Eddington Presbyterian Sunday school have been invited to the lecture room of the church Saturday evenings. Mr. Harleigh Bradley desires to form a class in singing.

Sunday morning the Bensalem M. E. church was very well attended. The pastor, Rev. F. A. Warden, spoke beautifully of the attractiveness of Jesus, his text being "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me."

Mr. Laird, of West Chester, was unable to be present at the Eddington Presbyterian church Monday and Tuesday evenings of last week owing to illness in his family. Mr. Patterson, of the Langhorne Presbyterian church, occupied the pulpit Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The meetings have been well attended and will continue this week.

The Bensalem teachers held their regular monthly meeting last Friday afternoon at the Eddington school house. The president, Mr. Shriner, called the meeting to order, Miss Buck, secretary, read the minutes of the preceeding meeting. The programme consisted of singing by a few of the large girls of the Grammar department; a very good address from Col J. A. M Passmore, in which he spoke to the scholars, teachers and directors; current events, by Miss Rosa Scott and singing "My country! 'tis of thee" by all present. The visitors were Mr. John G. Vandegrift, Mrs. John G. Cryer, Miss Pickering and Miss Reynolds. After the meeting adjourned Mrs K. M. V. Collins invited all present to a dainty lunch.

MORRISVILLE.

There was an unusually large attendance at the M. E. Church last Sunday evening to listen to the farewell sermon of Rev. Robert Hetherington, who has been pastor of the church for the past three years, a period longer than any of his predecessors enjoyed. There was also a large attendance at the morning service, when he spoke on reminiscences of his three years' pastorate. The altar and pulpit were handsomely decorated with large American flags. On the altar stood a beautiful silver emblem of the American Mechanics. At the evening service nearly one half of the seats were reserved for the various lodges and patriotic organizations. The societies marched to the church in a body and were represented thus: Junior Order United American Mechanics, Knights of the Mystic chain, Daughters of America, and Daughters of Liberty. After making the usual weekly announcements the pastor said that he would go to conference on Tuesday or Wednesday, which will be held in Chester, Pa., and extended a cordial invitation to those who can attend. He took for his text I Corinthians, 16: 10, "Now if Timotheus come, see that he may be with you without fear: for he worketh the work of the Lord, as I also do." After speaking of Paul and his great itinerant work, he referred in his sermon more to his successor and to the congregation he is to serve. He advised them to establish a cordial relationship with their new pastor, and not to forget that the power of appreciation is a strong factor. They should let him feel that his services are appreciated, to receive him cordially and welcome him with open arms. At the close of the sermon announcement was made that a sociable would be given on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Naylor in honor of the pastor, showing an appreciation of his services during his pastorate.

A parlor sociable, notice of which appeared in last week's GAZETTE, was held last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs E. D. Titus on Bridge street. It was held for the benefit of the Home Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church. A silver offering was taken and netted the sum of $10. The number present was about eighty-five. A fine musical and literary programme had been arranged, which was opened with a selection by the church choir; reading by Miss Clara Parks, recitation by Miss Louisa White, solos by Miss Frye, Miss Jessie Delaney, Mr. Charles Hewitt and Mr. William Burgess. In addition to the musical and literary selections a graphophone was an interesting feature of the evening for the entertainment of the guests. Light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Morris gave a six o'clock dinner last Saturday evening at their home on Union street to Rev. F. C. Jennings of the Presbyterian Church. A pleasant evening was spent. The invited guests were Miss Martha Lewis, Miss Clara Beidleman, Miss Elizabeth M. Leigh, Mr. William Burgess, Jr., Mr. Harry J. Burns and Mr. Frederic Wright.

The regular monthly business meeting and the bi-annual election of officers of the Christian Endeavor Society took place last week at the residence of Dr. I. N. Woodman. The following officers were elected: President, Mr. E. Y Morris; vice president, Mr. William Burgess, Jr.; secretary, Miss Thirza Howell: corresponding secretary, Miss Luella White; treasurer, Miss Lucie Taylor; ushers at church services, Mr. Harry J. Burns and William Burgess, Jr.

The United Americans, a society which was recently organized, held a social last Tuesday evening for the benefit of the order at the home of Mr. Isaac Swangler.

The contractors of the new Pennsylvania Railroad station are now at work laying a concrete platform and pavement around the station. The water and electric lights are being introduced. The old station will soon be torn down and the patrons of the road will have a more handsome and commodious structure.

The taking down of the old and rebuilding of the north Pennsylvania railroad bridge across the Delaware river will soon take place. Already much activity in this direction is being shown. The present wagon and foot bridge is to be disconnected from the railroad bridge and moved a few inches up the stream. The masons are now at work making alterations to the piers preparatory to the removal of bridge. The New Jersey Steel and Iron Company of Trenton, N. J., which has been awarded the contract for the taking down and rebuilding of the bridge, is now making active preparations to carry on the work. The hoisting engines and derricks are now on hand. All loading and unloading of material will be done on this side. The false work on which the material is to rest is now being erected in the river between the spans.

TULLYTOWN.

The assessor elect, Mr. Frank Hogeland, gave a terrapin supper on Monday evening, the fourteenth inst., in the store just vacated by Harry Moon. All the voters were invited and about one hundred and fifty partook of his hospitality. Dr. William Tallman contributed several barrels of prime oysters. There was enough for every one and to spare. After the older guests had been served the boys were allowed to sit up to the table and partake. The Tullytown small boy is a hungry individual, but, shifting his location at the table after having been served by one waiter and then turning a "lean and hungry look" on another waiter and inducing him to serve him, and repeating this operation frequently he was finally satisfied, and with the older guests considered the supper a success.

The steamer Florence resumed her trips between Bordentown and Philadelphia on Monday. This is of considerable interest to Tullytown as this boat is the only cheap transportation medium between Philadelphia and Tullytown. As the natives watch the Trenton and Twilight give us the "go by" they wonder why this is so. The probable reason is that several of the shareholders of the wharf company are also interested in the Florence. The result is a high wharfage, prohibitive to other boats, but not to the Florence, as it is alleged that she only pays in good years and is exonerated after a bad season. Penn's Manor Wharf company allowed the Twilight to stop at its wharf last year upon the payment of a small monthly fee. We commend this course to the management of the Tullytown Wharf company. Two or three boats stopping here will increase travel and freighting by boat, so that the Florence will not be injured, but Tullytown will be greatly benefited by the great facilities for cheap transportation.

Edward English claims to have caught the first shad of the season last Monday.

Mr. Harry Moon opened his new store for business on Thursday last.

Several of our residents had serious inroads made on their hen roosts last week supposably by a dog. Messrs. Oliver Harper and A. R. Wagenknight were among the losers. Unmuzzled dogs seem to flourish in spite of the ordinance to the contrary.

There was a very large audience at the Methodist church last Sunday night to hear the Rev. W. Gray Jones preach what the people of Tullytown are afraid will be his last sermon here.

The largest ball of the season was held at Red Men's hall on Wednesday evening, the ninth inst., under the management of Messrs. Raymond Fabian, Frank Carlin and Samuel Henry. The music was a little late in arriving, but the dancing was pushed forward sufficiently into the early hours of Thursday morning to more than compensate for that defect. Among those present were: Miss Ethel Cornew, of Philadelphia; the Misses Lizzie and Annie Wright, Lillian Foster, Messrs. A. Comfort, B. Gilkeson, R. Hetherington and Albert Stackhouse, of Bristol; Robert Scott and Victor Lynne, of Yardley; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blinn, W. H. Titus and Harry Howell, of Morrisville; Misses Carrie and Anna Hibbs and Mr. A. C. Hibbs, of Langhorne: Miss Mary Myers, Miss Nora VanHorn, Messrs. Albert Myers, John Davis and Edward Vanhorn, of Emilie; Miss Annie Christman, Miss Ada Hibbs, Miss Nellie White, Miss Hattie Warrington, Messrs. Wharton Hirst, Andrew Smith and Frank Warrington, of Fallsington; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vanarsdalen, Messrs. Joseph and Clarence Vanzant, of Hulmeville; Mr. A. Alberger, of Oakford; Mrs. Robert Chase, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hogeland, Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Louderback, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mrs. Elmira Fabian, Misses Maggie and Francis Fabian, Miss Sallie Eastburn, Miss Clara Carman, Miss Florence Green, Messrs. John Burton, Jr., Joshua Cooper, Frank Carlin, George R. Fabian, Samuel Henry, L. Leigh, Alvin Minster, Henry Lovett and Abraham White, of Tullytown.

Criminal Court.

The March term of criminal court opened on Monday, his Honor Harman Yerkes presiding. The calendar was a short one, there being only thirteen cases for trial.

The first case before a jury was that of Amanda Higgins, colored, of Bristol. The particulars of her offence were recently given in the GAZETTE.

She was accused of holding a six-year old girl's hands upon a hot stove until they were burned to a blister, because the child took some preserves. Several witnesses testified to the facts in the case, and Dr. A. R. Groom described the injuries.

The Higgins woman, in her own behalf, testified that she was drunk when she burned the child's hands, and she did not know what she was doing. She said she bought her whiskey from Rosy McKnight, who keeps a speak-easy on Spruce street.

The court ordered that a bench warrant be issued for Rosy's arrest.

The defendent also accused Oliver Williams one of the commonwealth's witnesses, with carrying concealed deadly weapons. This witness was recalled to the stand, and Constable Wilkinson was ordered to search him. The constable found a razor on Williams, and the court ordered him to be taken to jail.

Amanda Higgins was sentenced to 30 days in the Bucks County jail.

Thomas Washington, a 13 year old colored boy, pleaded guilty of stealing a pair of shoes from Frank Carotti at Bristol about two weeks ago and was committed to the House of Refuge.

Frank Johnson, who was found along the Newtown pike building a fire, and was also seen begging, pleaded guilty of vagrancy and was sentenced to one year and four months in the Eastern penitentiary.

Pietrowski, a Pole and a vagrant, was sentenced to breaking stone at the County jail for eight months.

Levi A. Knowles pleaded guilty to the larceny of some cloth, at the Steel mills, in Bristol. Letters from Mr. Steel and other responsible people for whom the defendent had worked set forth that his previous character was good, and asked the court to extend mercy to the defendent, who was never in trouble before. Sentence was suspended.

Antoni Perareki and Michel Yocovuni are two Italians who will break stone at the County jail for six months at Judge Yerkes request for creating a row at Quakertown.

Antone Hoffmeir and Lewis Walton are neighbors at Andalousia, and were unable to agree about a line fence, and Walton alleged that Hoffmier struck him. The jury convicted him and he was sentenced to pay $5 and costs.

John Fermensky stole property at the Durham furnace worth $335 and got a sentence of four years in the penitentiary.

The grand jury returned true bills of indictment for murder against Susan and Adam L. Weaver, charged with killing Edwin Mondeu at Bursonville. Mrs. Weaver was in court with her six months old child in her arms, and was much interested in the proceedings. Weaver is still a fugitive from justice, notwithstanding the $1000 reward for his arrest. Mrs. Weaver will probably be tried at the June term of court.

—There is to be a change in the ownership of the Bucks County Intelligencer published at Doylestown. A charter has been applied for. The corporation will include Alfred Paschall, Arthur K. Thomas, who recently sold the Ambler Gazette, George W. McIntosh, Clarence D. Hotchkiss and William Ryan.

IN AND AROUND THE COUNTY.

Sixteen Morrisville young men have organized a brass band.

The new graded school at Southampton will be dedicated April 2.

Residents of Riegelsville are collecting funds for the erection of a fire engine house.

Edward Insinger and E. W. Meloney have asked Yardley Borough Council for a franchise to erect water works.

Six-year-old George Schlosser while at play jumped in front of a trolley car at Allentown on Monday and was killed.

The Mennonite camp meeting, for many years held at Chestnut Hill, Northampton county, will this year be held at Quakertown.

William Hoyle, a gas fitter, fell into the baptismal pool of the First Baptist Church of Honesdale the other day and narrowly escaped drowning.

Mrs. Sarah A. Mershon, widow of the late Captain William C. Mershon, of Bordentown, died at the Aged Woman's Home at Bordentown, Sunday night, aged 73 years.

Daniel Potter, the young lawyer of Burlington, recently appointed assistant paymaster in the United States navy, has been ordered to report for duty on the ram Katahdin.

Cornwell Woolston, of Emilie, has been appointed letter carrier on the experimental free mail delivery route through Eden, Hulmeville, Newportville, Bensalem and Bristol.

Thomas J. Janney, ex-Prothonotary, now of Middletown township, has been appointed book-keeper and cashier of the Langhorne and Bristol trolley railroad, with his office at the car barn at Eden.

The Bucks County Trolley Company has leased its road from Doylestown to Willow Grove to the Willow Grove and Doylestown Traction Company. The deal was consummated last Thursday at a meeting held in Philadelphia.

The Quakertown Fire Company intends if possible to establish an electric alarm system which is to connect with each fireman's house. The members cleared nearly $400 at a fair and will use a portion of the proceeds for this purpose.

The "Miss Philadelphia" Company, which began its season in the East several months ago, with Herbert Cawthorn and Elvia Croix Seabrooke in the cast, is stranded in Tacoma, Wash. The manager has disappeared and many of the fifty people in the organization are in a woeful plight.

A Pole, known as "Dutch Mart," employed on the farm of John Jamison, of Jamison, has mysteriously disappeared, and in some quarters there is a belief that he may have been the murderer of Anna L. Edwards. Before his hasty departure he told several conflicting stories.

The plans and specifications of the new cigar factory at Quakertown and houses have been received and are now in the hands of contractors. The factory is to be completed by July 1, when the lease to the firm of Allen & Marshall, now occupying the Walp building, will expire.

Weaver, the Bursonville murderer, who was brought to jail about two weeks ago on a warrant sworn out by Israel Moser, charging her with assault and battery and resisting an officer, was given a hearing before Justice Willis Wall, in Doylestown, Saturday morning, on the charge of murder in counseling, aiding and abetting in the murder of Erwin Mondeau, and was held for trial.

A very interesting and valuable archæological collection has recently been deposited in the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania by Thomas J. Collins, of Haddonfield, N. J. There is a local collection from Haddonfield illustrating every class of objects found on the surface of the old Indian camp sites. Another series is from Pennsylvania, embracing Bucks, Chester, Clinton, Columbia, Dauphin, Jefferson, Juniata, Luzerne, Perry, Somerset and Lycoming Counties.

John Carrol made a murderous assault on Alexander McMaster, a farmer, living near New Hope, on Monday. Carrol, who was until recently an inmate of the almshouse, had done some work for McMaster, and was to have been paid on that date, but McMaster, failing to get some money due him, could not fulfill his promise. Carrol was so enraged at being disappointed that he picked up a large club and beat McMaster until he fell unconscious. Carrol escaped to the woods, but was finally captured and locked up. McMaster is about 80 years old, and it is feared will not recover from the brutal assault.

There is apparently not such another place for wild and exciting occurrences in all this land as the old town of Bristol, is the recorded judgment of the Philadelphia Record. The energetic citizen of this place whose sense of news prompts him to send, in frequent "pieces" submits the following to the genial gentleman whose contributions to the literature of the day are found in the sweet-scented Nosegay column of that paper, and its prompt publication shows that it was eagerly accepted: "At the farm sale of Byran Smith in Bristol Township a few days ago in which Ex Prothonotary Wm. Stackhouse of Bucks Co. had charge of His dog Fretz came near breaking up the sale While Auctioneer Magill was trying to sell Mr. Bryan old 25 year old Mule. As soon as the Mule was brought out before the Auctioneer Stand in which over 300 farmers were gathered The dog grab the Mule by the tail and would not let go his holt. Things began to get lively and the crowd of People seeing there was going to be a circus on hand Mounted the Trees, shed, barns, &s. The Auctioneer had to stop the sale for a while Until the dog let go his holt on the mule tail In which dog and Mule was flying around at a lively rate. It was finaly pull off an the sale went on."

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, March 14, 1898.

The Spring Silks Are Ready

"Complet" reads the sign hung on Paris omnibuses when the seats are taken. "Complete," says the silk chief as he sums up the season's elegance gathered here. To be sure, he is mistaken, for completion cannot be in such a store, where each day finds newness. But silks are at high-tide now, and they are nodding a cheery good morning to all who come. No flowers, save the loom blooms that make the new silks more glowing than usual.

Taffetas, forty-two styles, not counting the plain colors, 75c to $1.25.

There are quite four hundred shades, in the solid colorings, 75c to $1.

Satin Liberty, 75c.

Printed Foulards, $1 and $1.25.

Black-and-white Indias and Taffetas—the Indias, 50c to $1.25; the Taffetas, 75c to $6.

But details grow tedious. It is the whole, as a picture of spring brightness, that you are asked to see.

Women's Spring Outfittings IT WAS one of the great sensible class—a bright woman—who, looking at the NEW SPRING DRESSES, said that a woman might well spare herself the trouble, fatigue and expense of getting dresses made, when such costumes were handed her, ready to put on.

"See," she said to a friend, "there are not heaps of one thing. One is surely not in uniform with a suit from here. Even a dressmaker, in ruts, would turn out a dozen suits more nearly alike."

Quite true. Little duplication here, except in the perfectly plain black and blue suits that must needs look just so.

Spring Suits at $8.50 and $10 and up and up to $150.

Here are two new comers—

$8.50—Suits of navy and black serge; fly-front coat lined with silk serge. Or, suits of same material with blazer jacket.

$10—Suits of cheviot serge—navy, black, and a few in castor—fly-front coat lined with black taffeta. Full tailor-made skirt lined with cambric.

SPRING COATS AND CAPES are popping out of the cases as fast as lids are pried off. Not many yet—and these first few don't tarry long. Interested? Likely you'll be first one to see some new beauty.

Men's Spring Overcoats NOBBY garments for young men; staunch styles for their elders. Spring Overcoat time has come without warning; it was only forehanded planning that got us ready in time.

The finest Spring Overcoat is marked $30. Of covert cloth, in prettiest of colorings; exquisitely tailored; the very latest length.

A jump to the other end of the price-line—

Stylish Topcoats at $7.50

They are of covert cloth in two colorings; well tailored; body-lining of good-wearing farmers satin; wide seams; double stitched.

Overcoats of covert cloth at $10. Two shades; full silk lined; satin sleeve linings. Double stitched seams.

But maybe the winning coats of the year are these

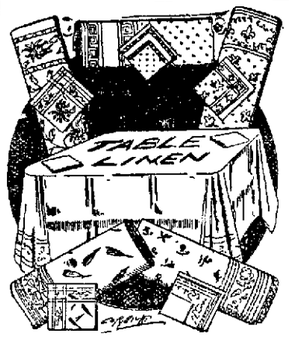

Stylish Garments at $12

Overcoat perfection, in style and cut. Worthy materials, honest tailoring and a good deal of it. You see, garments can be finished with varying amount of work. It is the painstaking hand-work that counts. More and more of it put in, as we advance in the price scale.

Other overcoats at $15, $18, $20 and $25.

You are ready. We are ready. Call for your coat.

QUEER AMERICAN RIVERS.

One Florida River That Seems Undecided Just What to Do.

F. H. Spearman tells of "Queer American Rivers" in St. Nicholas. The author says:

Every variety of river in the world seems to have a cousin in our collection. What other country on the face of the globe affords such an assortment of streams for fishing and boating and swimming and skating—besides having any number of streams on which you can do none of those things? One can hardly imagine rivers like that, but we have them, plenty of them, as you shall see.

As for fishing, the American boy may cast his flies for salmon in the arctic circle, or angle for sharks under a tropical sun in Florida, without leaving the domain of the American flag. But the fishing rivers are not the most curious or the most instructive as to diversity of climate, soil and that sort of thing—physical geography, the teacher calls it.

For instance, if you want to get a good idea of what tropical heat and moisture will do for a country, slip your canoe from a Florida steamer into the Ocklawaha river. It is as odd as its name, and appears to be hopelessly undecided as to whether it had better continue in the fish and alligator and drainage business or devote itself to raising live oak and cypress trees, with Spanish moss for mattresses as a side product.

In this fickle minded state it does a little of all these things, so that when you are really on the river you think you are lost in the woods, and when you actually get lost in the woods you are quite confident your canoe is at last on the river. This confusion is due to the low, flat country and the luxuriance of a tropical vegetation.

To say that such a river overflows its banks would hardly be correct, for that would imply that it was not behaving itself. Besides, it hasn't any banks—or, at least, very few! The fact is, these peaceful Florida rivers seem to wander pretty much where they like over the pretty peninsula without giving offense. but if Jack Frost takes such a liberty—presto, you should see how the people get after him with weather bulletins and danger signals and formidable smudges. So the Ocklawaha river and a score of its kind roam through the woods—or maybe it is the woods that roam through them—and the moss sways from the live oaks, and the cypress trees stick their knees up through the water in the oddest way imaginable

Bookmaking In the Middle Ages.

It required a man of great parts to be a successful publisher at that time, as much as or even more than it does today. Such an institution, for example, as the Sorbonne or University of Paris required the highest guarantees of character, capital and literary capacity in the licensed bookseller. He must be an adept in all the knowledge and science of the period, as well as perfectly skilled in the mechanical needs of his business. The university, too, which was always in close touch with the church, even when its studies had begun to broaden, exercised a jealous censorship, lest some religious heresy should creep in. Whenever an error of this or even of a more trivial sort was found, the transcripts were burned and the bookseller heavily fined. Sometimes his privileges might be entirely revoked, indeed, and he himself imprisoned. The bookseller could not even fix a price on his own products.

Four of the guild in Paris, for example, were sworn as appraisers by the authorities of the Sorbonne to fix the selling value of a book, and any deviation from this was a penal offense. To students the price was fixed at two-thirds of the charge asked of the general purchaser. The booksellers could not dispose of their entire stock and trade without the license of the university, which must also approve the purchaser. As an additional help to students, the Sorbonne in the middle of the fourteenth century framed a law compelling all booksellers to keep books to lend out on hire, and this example was imitated at Toulouse, Bologna, Vienna and Oxford. In this way circulating libraries were established in the middle ages.—Harper's Round Table.

Suicide Among the Germans.

Another social phenomenon has been laid at the door of the Teutonic race of northern Europe, one which even more than divorce is directly the concomitant of modern intellectual and economic progress. We refer to suicide. Morselli devotes a chapter of his interesting treatise upon this subject to proving that "the purer the German race—that is to say, the stronger the Germanism (e. g., Teutonism) of a country—the more it reveals in its psychical character an extraordinary propensity to self destruction." On the other hand, the Slavic peoples seem to him to be relatively immune. These conclusions he draws from detailed comparison of the distribution of suicide in the various countries of western Europe, and it must be confessed that he has collected data for a very plausible case. There can be no doubt that in Germany the phenomenon culminates in frequency for all Europe, and that it tends to disappear in almost direct proportion to the attenuation of the Teutonic racial characteristics elsewhere.—William Z. Ripley in Popular Science Monthly.

A Knotty Problem.

"Why, Ethel, what are you doing with that big medical work in your lap?"

"Well, Arabella, you'd never guess, I am quite sure."

"You are not going to make a doctor of yourself, are you?"

"Not at all. I am trying to find out which of my two suitors I love enough to marry. What do you think of that?"

"How can a cyclopedia of medicine help you?"

"Well, it's this way. Mr. Oldspoon is 57 years of age. He is worth £80,000 and has consumption. Mr. Dukkats is 65 years old. He is worth £100,000 and has heart disease. I thought perhaps this medical book would help me to make up my mind. I have about decided that I love Mr. Dukkats the better. Which would you love?" —Strand Magazine.

Oyster Cocktails.

Oyster cocktails are not quite as dissipated as they sound, since no liquor is used in their preparation. To make them, mix together the juice of half a lemon (strained), 10 drops of tabasco sauce, half teaspoonful of horse radish, half teaspoonful of paprika and the same of tomato catsup; put 2 oysters in a glass—Blue Points are best—and pour in a quarter of the sauce, which is enough for 8 oysters.

—R. Fremont Harned has been appointed Consul of the League of American Wheelmen for Bristol by Chief Consul S. A. Boyle, of Philadelphia. Mr. Harned is chairman of the Membership and a member of the Executive committees of the Wheelmens Roads Association. Acting in this double capacity it is expected that the two associations may be brought still closer together in any action taken to better the roads and paths in this vicinity.

—Daniel Dungan, an old resident of Bristol, died suddenly while at work on last Saturday afternoon at about three o'clock at the livery stable of Minster and Sommerfeld. Dungan had returned from driving a cab at the funeral of Mrs. Hartshorne and a few hours afterward was found dead in the toilet room. The Coroner, who was immediately summoned from Morrisville, decided that death was due to heart disease and that no inquest was necessary. The body was interred in the Newtown grave yard last Tuesday.

When you have a sick horse you do not hitch him up to a sulky and take him to the race track for a little healthful spin. You doctor him. You cannot work or recreate a man into good health any more than you can a horse. Bicycling will make healthy men more healthy; it will make unhealthy men more unhealthy. When a man has been living in too big a hurry, when he has worked himself out, when he has got so that he does not sleep or eat, or rest, and the whole world looks gloomy to him, it is time for him to take medicine. Then, when he is braced up a bit, it is time enough for him to take to the bicycle.

When a man's nerves have an edge on them, so that the least little disappointment rasps on his temper like a file, when his stomach and liver and nerves are deranged, and he is continually gloomy and melancholy, he should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes a man as hungry as a fisherman and sees to it that all the vital elements of the food are absorbed into the blood. It braces up the liver and puts it to work in the right way. It drives all bilious impurities from the system. It fills flesh, nerves, brain cells, sinews and bones with the life-giving elements of rich, red, pure blood. It makes a man healthy and then a bicycle will make him strong. Medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing "just as good."

"Through your skillful treatment I am once more a well man," writes J. N. Arnold, Esq., of Gandy, Logan Co., Neb. "I suffered for years with constipation and torpidity of the liver, irritation of the prostate and inflammation of the bladder. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' and am permanently cured. You have been the means of saving my life."

A man or woman who neglects constipation suffers from slow poisoning. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. All medicine dealers sell them. No other pills are "just as good."
